In China and India, less than 1% of the population lives in areas meeting WHO guidelines.

85% of the world’s population lives in areas where WHO air quality guidelines are exceeded.

Air pollution is the 4th highest-ranking risk factor for death globally.

#4

In China and India, less than 1% of the population lives in areas meeting WHO guidelines.

Deaths from air pollution in 2013

Air pollution was responsible for 5.5 million deaths in 2013.

Source: